

The License Dashboard Technology Alliance Program enables companies to partner with a global leader in Software Asset Management and integrate their tools with License Dashboard products.

Join the License Dashboard Technology Alliance Program

License Dashboard develop relationships with like-minded organizations who share similar values & goals and address real-world business challenges. As IT environments become more complex, strong business alliances are essential to understand exactly what software is deployed across an organization's estate. Our Alliance Program is designed to enable companies to offer complementary solutions to License Dashboard customers and providing full visibility of all IT assets.

License Dashboard offer numerous resources to give you everything you need to develop and deliver joint solutions for your customers. From co-deployment to ensure your customer is set up, through to marketing our collaboration to joint customers. The License Dashboard Technology Alliance Program is designed to work alongside fellow technology solution and service providers to ensure end user organizations have straightforward access to the solutions they require.

Extend your offerings

Gathering IT information from your environment is crucial to understand exactly what is installed. Without knowing exactly what is installed organizations can be open to compliance, security and monetary risks. License Dashboard solutions display the information gathered in a straightforward, easy to understand format.

Joining the Technology Alliance Program ensures all your customers are utilizing the information inventory tools gather and gives them detailed information on their current licensing position. From there they can optimize the data and ensure they are making the most of their IT investments.

Working with License Dashboard

License Dashboard's team of experts will assist you in deploying a connector to your tool to ensure all customer data is gathered correctly. Our support team will be on hand to assist customers when using our products and ensure they receive the correct training.

Working with our marketing team, we will assist you in building a successful campaign to announce the partnership and promote the on-going benefits to your customers and ours.

We have a long track record of providing excellent solutions and customer service to organizations across the globe and the License Dashboard Alliance Program focuses on working alongside liked-minded organizations who enable our customers and provide a wider range of solutions.
